Men and Praise

Many people gave me this advice.

I always keep this advice in my mind.

So if he does any house work,...

..even though I'm not happy 100% about it,...

...I praise him
so it makes him happy.

This works the best when Mev cooks on the weekend

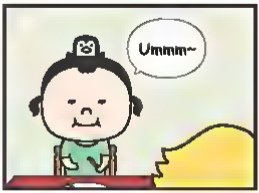
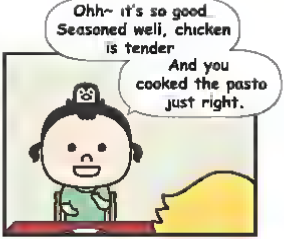
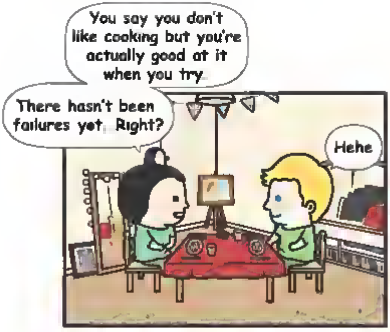
It's a chicken broccoli pasta.
Wa~ It smells really good
The recipe had good reviews.



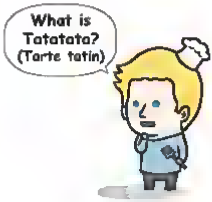
Ummm~



Of course,
I praise him about his effort.



I actually can praise him with my heart because it's really gaad!



Normally he daesn't have much knowledge af caaking.

I think my result is good because as I just follow the recipe exactly

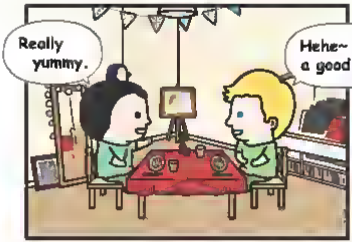
If the recipe says 25g, I use 25g.. Not 26g
Boil for 3 minutes? Then 3 minutes, not 2minutes 55seconds



Really yummy.
Hehe~ Am I a good cook?

Thanks to my praise,
I think Mev's cooking confidence is getting higher and higher.

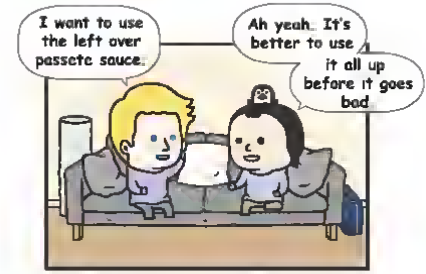
And it was his turn to cook
again.

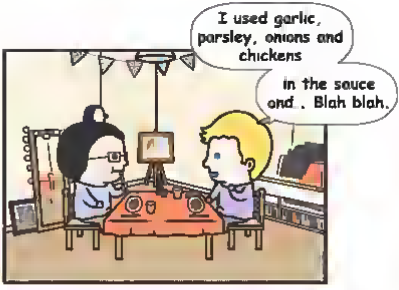


I want to use the left over passeto sauce.
Ah yeah.. It's better to use it all up before it goes bad

Alright! I'll make something with the sauce then!
Hooray~

- That evening

Today, I made it with my own recipe. My invention!
Try it. Hehe



I used garlic, parsley, onions and chickens in the sauce and . Blah blah.

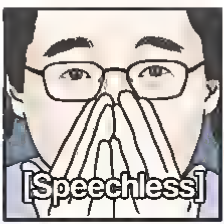
1. Feel sorry but say the truth

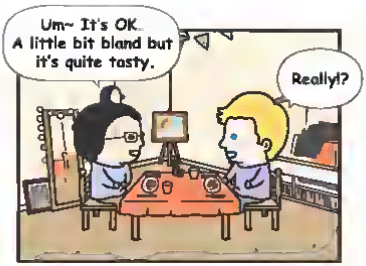
2. Just praise him and eat this again in the future

Eat again....



This is a side effect
af unconditional praise.

+



I decided to say the truth with a little bit of a lie.

I was puzzled.

Never buy
the sauce again